WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

5

15

20

- 1. A side rack rod for motor vehicle, comprising: a straight tubular pipe section; a curved pipe section, respectively disposed on both ends of said straight tubular pipe section; a fixed base, disposed under each curved pipe section; characterized in that said fixed base comprising a long groove long thereon, and the maximum and minimum distance between said two long groove holes fitting in a range of various sizes.
- 2. A side rack rod for motor vehicle as claimed in claim 1, wherein said straight pipe section is hollow inside and interconnected.
 - 3. A side rack rod for motor vehicle, comprising: a pair of corresponding anchors, each having a straight tubular section; a curved pipe section at both ends of said straight tubular section; a fixed base at each curved pipe section, and a sleeve disposed between two anchors; characterized in that said fixed base, each having a long groove hole, such that the maximum and minimum distances between said two long groove holes fitting a range of various sizes.
 - 4. A side rack rod for motor vehicle as claimed in claim 3, wherein said sleeve is hollow and interconnected between said straight pipe section and curved pipe section of said anchor.
 - 5. A side rack rod for motor vehicle as claimed in claim 3, wherein said straight pipe section of the anchor has a length larger than that of said sleeve.